Supervision of individual investment professionals begins with a review of the asset allocation compared to stated client objectives. Performance is reviewed relative to a representative selection of similarly situated client accounts. If a reviewed portfolio has an asset allocation or a performance result that falls outside of the tolerance levels, a full portfolio review will be performed by the Committee.

If the Committee finds that the portfolio manager is acting in a manner that is inconsistent with the stated objectives of the client, he or she will be instructed to reposition the portfolio so that it complies with the portfolio's investment policy statement.

Edson L. ("Ted") Bridges III is the head of the Investment Committee and is primarily responsible for the supervision of all supervised individuals. Ted is the CEO of Bridges Investment Management, Inc. Ted can be reached at 402-397-4700.

Portfolio Managers are not restricted to owning names that have been approved by the Committee; however, many of the holdings in a given client’s portfolio will generally come from the approved list.
